

This proposal needs to be studied carefully to be sure it will not interfere with current use of UHF and some VHF frequencies. The issue of interference with frequencies used by amateur operators (HAMS) as well as other uses has not been sufficiently studied. Early overseas studies show possible problems.